Provision to third parties

We can share some of your personal data with the following third parties and for the following purposes:

- Third party service providers who help us to provide our services and payment processing services, assist us in providing customize advertising, to assist us with the prevention of fraud and/or security breaches, bill collection and other business operations.
- Third party providers of websites, application, services and tools that we cooperate with so that they can publish or advertise the information provided by you on their website or in their applications, services and tools. If we transfer your personal data along with the information provided by you to third party providers, this will solely be on the basis of an agreement limiting use by the third party provider of such personal information to processing necessary to fulfil their contract with us and obligating the third party provider to take security measures with regard to such data. Third party providers are not permitted to sell, lease or in any other way transfer the personal information provided by you to third parties.

- To law enforcement or governmental agencies, or authorized third-parties, in response to a verified request relating to a criminal investigation or alleged or suspected illegal activity or any other activity that may expose us, you, or any other of our users to legal liability.
- If we were to merge with or be acquired by another company, we may share information with them in accordance with our privacy standards.
- Third parties who process your personal data on behalf of Kamernet will do so on the basis of a Data Protection Agreement.

Cookies

When you visit our website, your IP address is automatically stored in the logs of our web server. This is necessary to allow us to properly manage and secure the webserver.

In addition, we also use your IP Address to track your online behaviour, provided that you have given consent for this. In general, we are not able to link your IP address to your name, address or other identifying information, unless you actively provide us with such information and keep using the same IP Address. Our standard retention period for log files is 6 months.

When you visit our website for the first time, a pop-up will be shown asking you to accept our use of certain cookies and plug-ins. By clicking 'accept' you give us permission to use all cookies and plug-ins as described in the pop-up and in this privacy statement. By clicking 'settings' you can choose to give us permission for (1) only placing the cookies that are strictly necessary for the performance of the website (2) or all cookies, including those of Google Analytics. You can always adjust the settings by clicking the link to 'cookie settings' in the footer.

Google Analytics

If you give us permission via the cookie settings, we use Google Analytics to generate general statistics and to review how our website is used by the audience. The analytics programs and cookies we use, do not track the actions of specific users on our website. These statistics allow us to optimize our services. For more information about Google Analytics, please see the Google Analytics privacy overview.

Security measures

We secure your personal data that is stored with us. We, naturally, will do everything possible to secure your personal data against any unauthorized access, loss or theft. We have drafted an intern policy guideline to make sure that our services are designed as secure as possible, while applying the fitting levels of security.

We take security measures to limit and minimize potential abuse of and unauthorized access to your personal data. For that, we take, amongst others, the following measures:

- logical access authentication using passwords;
- automatic logging of all actions concerning personal information;

- encryption of digital files with personal information;
- securing network connections via Secure Socket Layer (SSL) technology;
- secured internal network;
- purpose related access restrictions;
- internal protocol data leaks;
- inspection of assigned authorities.

Changes to this Privacy Statement

We retain the right to execute changes to this Privacy Statement. Changes will be published on our website. Old versions will remain available for consultation. We recommend you to consult this Privacy Statement on a regular basis to make sure you are up to date on any possible changes. We will place a prominent banner on our website to announce any changes to the Privacy Statement, declaring the date when the Privacy Statement was updated last. The new Privacy Statement goes into effect immediately after publishing.
